The municipalities work to build a system that provides better living standard of the citizens within the process of decentralization. They are to achieve this through introducing functional and efficient local administration, based on the principles for local democracy and sustainable development, as well as through rational resources usage and creation of possibilities for development for the future generations. In order to fulfill this principle, there is need to create the necessary preconditions of the better planning and harmonization of the municipal strategic documents, as well as to set priority projects for infrastructure development in the South-East planning region.
