

Arrangement of part of industrial zones in SEPR, a condition for increased economic development

The South-East planning region has the most dynamic growth in R. N. Macedonia, led by small businesses that dominate in the production and employment. Therefore adequate infrastructure connectivity in industrial zones is necessary, as places where a large number of the region's economic potentials will be located.

Well-developed industrial zones are one of the most important preconditions for the development of the region. These zones need to have a well-organized infrastructure and signalization in order to increase the attractiveness of the zones in front of potential domestic and foreign investors. Therefore, a more regional approach is needed, which means that the region must take measures to regulate industrial zones and make joint efforts in development and promotion for increased economic development.

The arrangement of the street 9 in the industrial zone Gradashorci has regional significance and it is of great importance and benefit to the citizens of the region, because it connects places and facilitates and improves the daily life of the citizens for easy access to work, to current companies located there, to agricultural areas and also will enable expansion of the industrial zone. The arrangement of street 9 in the Industrial Zone Gradashorci is of great importance for the municipalities of Vasilevo, Bosilovo and Strumica that mostly gravitate in this part of the region and use this local road.

There are a number of factors on which the level of development of a region depends, but of course one of the basic is the existence of appropriate conditions for the development of economic capacities. Such projects in the South-East region are needed in order to build a system that will provide a better standard of living for citizens and is a condition for increased economic development through rational use of resources and creating opportunities for development of industrial zones.
